

ABSTRACT

This patent application relates to a process for the purification of proteins expressed in prokaryotic cells, which comprises interposing a reverse phase chromatography step between the extraction/denaturation and the renaturation steps.